Competency Group Introduction

Competency Group Line Graphs

Each ManagerView360 line graph compares your self ratings to those of the other rater groups across four competency groups:

- Communication Skills
- Task Management Skills
- Interpersonal Skills
- Problem-Solving Skills

How to Interpret Your Graphs

The competency group line graphs compare your own self-perceptions to those of other rater groups. Each rater group is shown by a different color corresponding to the legend at the bottom of the graph.

The line graphs that follow compare your perceptions to those of other rater groups using two related scores: standardized z-scores on the left axis and percentiles on the right axis.

Standardized z-scores provide a useful way to compare your own scores to others in the large normative data base of supervisors, managers and executives. The z-score is a particular score allowing you to compare your own rating, or those of others, to a large normative database being used for this instrument. The z-score, for a competency or item, is the distance and direction from the average expressed in units of standard deviation. A z-score is sometimes called a "standardized score" with 0.0 representing the average. For example, a z-score of 1.0 means that the competency or item is one standard deviation above the average score in the normative database.

These z-scores represent the actual standard deviation above or below the average (shown as 0.0 on the graph). If you have a score that is above the +2.0 standard-deviation line, that z-score is in the top 2 percent of all people rated on that item (in other words, in the 98th percentile as shown on the right axis). Such a score is considered very high and is labeled as such at the right of the graph.

Z-score differences of .50 or more by the different rater groups might suggest important perceptual differences. Look at the first graph. Run your eyes up the left side until you find the value 0.0. This number represents the average score for all of the supervisors, managers and executives in the database. Now scan across the graph to the right side. Note that the 0.0 line is labeled "Average."

You can quickly compare your individual results with those of the average participant in the database. If your score is above the 0.0 line, your score for that particular item is above average. If the score is below the 0.0 line, your score is below the score of the average participant in the database. Now, compare your own self-ratings to those of the other rater groups. Again, a difference of .50 or more might suggest important perceptual differences for you to explore further.

Competency Group Introduction Continued

To further understand your scores, read the following definitions of the terms "Average" score, "Moderately High" score, and so on.

Very High	z-score above 2.0 (98th percentile)
High	z-score above 1.0 (84th percentile)
Moderately High	z-score above .50 (67th percentile)
Average	z-score equal to 0.0 (50th percentile)
Moderately Low	z-score below -.50 (32th percentile)
Low	z-score below -1.0 (16th percentile)
Very Low	z-score below -2.0 (2nd percentile)

Most Frequent Behaviors - All Raters

The following behaviors were identified by your respondents as your most frequently demonstrated behaviors and grouped by relevant competency. They are rank ordered so that the first item is perceived to be your most frequently demonstrated behavior. The number of raters is shown for each rating level of the behavior. A box indicates your own self-rating on this behavior (Note: If there is no box present for an item, it means that you did not provide an answer between the scale 1 and 7).

These represent behaviors perceived by others as frequently practiced. As such, you should consider ways to continue leveraging these behaviors as strengths.

Least Frequent Behaviors - All Raters

The following behaviors were identified by your respondents as your least frequently demonstrated behaviors and grouped by relevant competency. They are rank ordered so that the first item is perceived to be your least frequently demonstrated behavior. The number of raters is shown for each rating level of the behavior. A box indicates your own self-rating on this behavior (Note: If there is no box present for an item, it means that you did not provide an answer between the scale 1 and 7).

These represent behaviors perceived by others as infrequently practiced. As such, you should consider practicing these behaviors more frequently or helping others understand when you do demonstrate them.

Behavior Summary

The average score for each ManagerView360 competency and specific questions are summarized below for each rater category (1 to 7 frequency scale with higher scores corresponding to more frequently observed behavior). If the symbol AP appears instead of a score it means anonymity protection (i.e., fewer than a specified minimum number of people from a particular rater group have responded, the score is not shown to protect anonymity). If the symbol NR appears instead of a score it means no people from a particular rater group have responded. The competencies are presented in descending order based on the average scores of all raters. If the symbol AP appears instead of a score it means anonymity protection (i.e., fewer than a specified minimum number of people from a particular rater group have responded, the score is not shown to protect anonymity). If the symbol NR appears instead of a score it means no people from a particular rater group have responded. The competencies are presented in descending order based on the average scores of all raters.

The number in parentheses next to the average score is an index of or measure of rater agreement. The range of scores for this statistical measure of rater agreement is 0 to 1 where "1" represents total agreement by all raters. A score closer to "0" suggests that there exists a wider level of disagreement among raters in their perceptions of how frequently you demonstrate specific actions or behaviors. The higher the agreement score, the greater the consistency and agreement among raters. An agreement score of less than .50 might suggest that you interpret the average score with caution as it might not truly represent an accurate indication of how you are perceived by all raters providing you with feedback.
